Paris, May 3.—Commenting on the Manchurian situation, the officials here say the French ambassador at St. Petersburg has had an interview on the subject with Foreign Minister Lamsdorf, which brought out a repetition of the statement that Russia had given positive assurances to the United States that there would be no interruption of the open door policy in Manchuria, and also the assertion that the mission of General Kuropatkin, the Russian war minister, to Manchuria, was pacific.

The view held here is that Russia's assurances fully protect the United assurances fully protect the United States' commercial interests. The reoccupation of New Chwang by Russian troops is claimed to be a wholly political issue between Russia, Great Britain and Japan, and as not involving American temperature.

From the Other Powers. Washington, May 9.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, had a long interview with Secretary Hay at the state department today. He manifested deep concern over the Manchurian situation, but declared that the legation was without official advices; in the absence of which he did not care to discuss the matter. There is an intimation that Japan is disappointed at the cuss the matter. After passing Lunderston bay the yachts squared away for Rothesay bay, and it was soon evident that the plans of the morning had been changed. The boats were not racing, but were merely sall-stretching. In Rothesay bay club topsalls were exchanged for working top-salls and a fresh start was made. On the return journey the old boat took the windward berth and had a decided lead, but abreast of Lochlong the challenger salled through Shamrock I's lee and was thirteen seconds ahead off Gourock pier.

Challenger Leads When Desired.

During a series of informal spins the Shamrock III was apparently able to take the lead whenever Captain Wringe desired. The latter, however, was folled in one maneuver. Fetching up from Rothesay, close-hauled, the challenger closed rapidly on the Shamrock I and headed her with the object of passing to windward. but Captain Bevis suddenly luffed Shamrock I, forcing Captain Wringe in-shore, where the wind was lighter. For three miles the challenger salled close by the weather quarter of her opponent, but was unable to get past. Suddenly the yachts started on another spinnaker run. Off Greenock esplanda the Shamrock I had a half-mile lead, but the challenger passed her in a little over a mile. The challenger's gearing stretched during the trials.

The yachts ultimately were sent off on a real racing trial. The challenger outpointed, outran and outreached the older boat. They ran first with spinnakers to Cloch, five miles, and the Shamrock III caught her opponent and led her quite a quarter of a mile at that point. The boats were then broad-reached to Skelmore buoy. boats were then broad-reached to Skelmore buoy.

The wind was a trifle unsteady and the challenger was rather better served. She beat Shamrock I hollow, turning the Skelmore end of her nine-mile sail nearly eleven minutes ahead. Reaching back up channel to Cloch, the challenger further improved until she was two miles ahead. The finishing stretch was by the wind and the challenger continued to open a way and scored a decisive victory, first from the fourteen minutes and sixteen seconds in front of the older boat.

Reliance Takes a Spin.

Bristol, R. I., May 9.—The Reliance reached here from New Rochelle today, having been towed from Cornfield Light because of the light wind. Although everything was ready for hauling out the yacht in order that her underbody might be cleaned, a brisk northeast wind was blowing and it was decided to give the new yacht a spin instead of putting her on the ways.

The Constitution also made preparations to go out and from the haste displayed it was thought she was trying to get ready to give the Reliance a brush.

When the Reliance left her anchorage, however, the Constitution did not follow. Instead she was taken in tow by her tender and started westward. The Raliance safled back and forth about the harbor for several hours, testing her sailing powers on different points of the wind.
